Availability

Private tuition is currently available Monday to Thursday from 5.15pm to 8:30pm and Saturday 9.30am to 3:30pm. Lessons are available during these times but are dependent on availability of the trainer and the necessary space/equipment. There may be some restrictions to private tuition during NICA performances and school holiday periods.

What happens next?

Call or email the Short Courses office. We will forward a template requesting details of your experience, goals and availability. Once filled in and returned, we will start searching for an available trainer.

After the session times and dates have been decided, you will need to pay for the lessons to confirm the booking. We are unable to hold any bookings without full payment in advance. Payment can be made with a credit card over the phone, or in person at NICA reception or the Short Course office prior to the day of the booking. Once your payment has been processed you will receive a confirmation email detailing lesson times, how to find NICA and a copy of the Indemnity Form.

Changes to bookings

When booking in times and dates for your private lesson, please take the time to check your other commitments as rescheduling is not always possible and may result in the forfeit of your fee. If we are able to accommodate your request, any changes to bookings will incur a $30 administration fee. Any changes to a scheduled lesson must be approved by the NICA Short Course office. Please do not make arrangements with your trainer directly, as these will not be honoured. Requests to reschedule within two working days from the lesson will not be considered and the fee forfeited.
